Title: Interview and Observations in a Men's Shed

Description:

This week, I spent 1.5 hours at Sunnybank Men's Shed conducting observations and interviews. I observed a few members making a bed for an elderly lady who lived close by. I saw that one of the members was leading this process, while providing guidance to a new member of the shed. I took multiple photos of the space and interviewed one of the shed members named John. He was a 72-year-old retired teacher. We talked about his interests at the shed. Contrary to what I observed others doing, John was interested in making smaller, more aesthetic things like wooden toys at the shed.

Statement on Learning:

Spending 1.5 hours straight helped me a lot to learn about the men's shed. I believe that I will have to immerse myself in various activities the shed members are conducting. My earlier visits to the shed helped me recruit John for the interview. I feel that it helped to establish trust within the environment.
