Assessment 2: Historical Analysis

Weight 30%

WEEK 9, Wednesday 21st September, 4pm

IVAH Individual

Task Description

You will choose a social problem. Using scholarly resources, you will investigate the history of the problem, and present and future projections of it. You will then breakdown and analyse 3 proposed solutions to the problem throughout history, outlining the designed solution and explanation of why the solution did not solve the problem.

IVAH Individual

In order to pass this course, you need to achieve a minimum grade of 4 overall. In addition, you must achieve a minimum grade of 3 in this assessment item to pass the course. For further information, see 5.4.1 Identity Verified Assessment.

Assessment Tasks

For this assessment, you will produce a Problem and Solution Report. The purpose of this report is to examine a social problem through a historical lens, to make interpretations supported by evidence to explain why the problem exists. You then are required to identify and describe three (3) solutions to fix the problem. By then analysing these solutions you will identify the positives and negatives of each to solving the problem.

The writing style of the report should be written in a factual tone, concise and easy to follow. Reports include images, tables, and graphs to support the text. All images, tables and graphs must have titles, be referenced within the text, and referenced correctly. Approximate word counts have been included for each section of the report.

Submission Requirements

The final project submission will be a report where you should present:

- Title Page
- An introduction
- History of the social problem
- Analysis of the social problem
- Three (3) solutions to the problem
- Analysis of the three (3) solutions
- A Conclusion
- References

Title Page

The Title Page should include:

- The title of the report
- Your name (and student number)
- The name of the course and the course code.
- Word count (excluding reference list)

Introduction (Approx. 150-200 words)

The introduction contextualises the report and explains its purpose. It often includes information on the background of the report, its purpose, and the scope of your research. It should also indicate key terms of reference that will be used throughout the report and outline the report's structure.

This should include, however, is not limited to including the following:

- Introduction to your chosen social problem
- Include the context of the social problem
- Overview and purpose of the report

Historical Background of the Problem (Approx. 400-500 words)
In this section you are writing a historical narrative of the chosen social problem, this should explain what the problem is and how it has developed over time. The time is relevant to your chosen problem, however, to ensure there is relevant and significant information about the problem please select your problem wisely. If you are unsure check with your unit coordinator.

This section should outline how the problem unfolded, which will require comparing different sets of ideas and considering multiple perspectives of various people in the past. Ensure you are identifying the author or source of the resources you are using and assessing its credibility.
This section should answer the following questions:

- What is the problem context?
- How significant is the problem?
- Who does it involve?
- Since when has it been a problem?
- How has the problem changed over time?

Analysis of the Problem (Approx. 300-400 words)
In this section you are developing the skills to comprehend the historical narrative to analyse the social problem to explain why it become a problem, what was the cause. This will require exploring the relationships between different aspects and how they influenced how the problem developed. Your interpretation of why the problem exists should be supported by evidence not an expression of an opinion.

There may be multiple causations for the problem, however, for this section through our analysis you are to limit this to one or two aspects.

This section should answer the following questions:

- What has caused this problem?
- What is/are the key aspect/s of the cause of the problem?

Three Solutions to the Problem (Approx. 150-200 words per solution)
This section should outline three approaches or solutions to solve the social problem. Depending on the problem it could be a product, a service, an initiative (education or awareness), or policy change. The solution can be from the country the problem is in or from somewhere else. You will need to include specific solutions, not broad approaches such as the solution to poverty is education. The solution may have been implemented or is conceptual.

This section should answer the following questions for each solution:

- What is the solution?
- Who created the solution? A group or organisation, an individual or a company?
- What was the aim of the solution?
- How did the solution address the problem?

Analysis of the Three Solutions (Approx. 150-200 words per solution)
This section should analyse each of the solutions.
This section should answer the following questions for each solution:

- Was the solution successful? If so, explain how.
- Did it lead to any negative outcomes? If so, explain how.
- Did it lead to any positive outcomes? If so, explain how.

Not successful? How.
好
坏

Conclusions (Approx. 150-200 words)
The conclusion should provide a summary of the report, outline the key points and or findings and restate the overall purpose of the report.

References
As with any academic paper/assignment, your report must include appropriate in-text citations and a corresponding reference list. This is not included in the word count.

Submission requirements:
2500- 3000 words
PDF file

Submission instructions:
You will submit your report as a PDF file via the Blackboard assessment link.

Criteria & Marking:
RESEARCH (Inquiry & Analysis) - 20%
ARGUMENT (Position & Ambition) - 30%
RESOLUTION (Synthesis & Detail) - 30%
PRESENTATION (Communication & Representation) - 20%

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA	7 High Distinction (85-100%)	6 Distinction (75-84%)	5 Credit (65-74%)	4	3 Marginal Fail (45-49%)	2 Fail (25-44%)	1 Low Fail (1-24%)
	Demonstrated evidence of exceptional achievement of course learning outcomes	Demonstrated evidence of advanced achievement of course learning outcomes	Demonstrated evidence of proficient achievement of course learning outcomes	Demonstrated evidence of functional achievement of course learning outcomes	Demonstrated evidence of developing achievement of course learning outcomes	Minimal evidence of achievement of course learning outcomes	Absence of evidence of achievement of course learning outcomes
RESEARCH (Inquiry & Analysis) - 20% Ability to conduct research to demonstrate evidence of knowledge and understanding of selected social problem and solutions. Research includes historical data from a variety and appropriate breadth of sources.	Demonstrated evidence of exceptional knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions achieved through extensive research, producing perceptive commentary and insights.	Demonstrated evidence of advanced knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions, achieved through wide-ranging research	Demonstrated evidence of proficient knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions achieved through research	Demonstrated evidence of functional knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions, achieved through research	Evidence of a developing knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions, achieved through research	Minimal evidence demonstrating research, knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions	Absence of evidence demonstrating research, knowledge and understanding of the selected social problem and solutions
ARGUMENT (Position & Ambition) - 30% Capacity to develop a critical position in relation to the selected social problem. Can interrogate historical data and support interpretations with evidence. Able to evaluate significance and impact of multiple aspects within the context of the social problem to provide an interpretation of causality. Able to evaluate the selected solutions and identify the positives and negatives of the solutions.	Demonstrated evidence of an exceptional capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers to explain its significance. Arguments are clear and supported by research, offering some exceptional and original insights.	Demonstrated evidence of an advanced capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers to explain its significance. Arguments are clear and supported by research, offering some advanced or original insights	Demonstrated evidence of a proficient capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers to explain its significance. Arguments are clear and supported by research	Demonstrated evidence of a functional capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers to explain its significance. Arguments are mostly clear and supported by research	Evidence of a developing capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers and to explain its significance	Minimal evidence demonstrating a capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers and to explain its significance	Absence of evidence demonstrating a capacity to develop a critical position on the selected designs and designers to explain its significance
RESOLUTION (Synthesis & Detail) - 30% Text is clearly written and structured, of appropriate tone and length. Submission is complete (i.e., includes images as required). Providing correct citations of all sources.	Demonstrated evidence of exceptional written communication skills. Text is of required length. Exceptional written expression	Demonstrated evidence of advanced written communication skills. Text is of required length. Prose is fluid and clear	Demonstrated evidence of proficient written communication skills. Text is of required length. Written expression is clear, and submission is complete	Demonstrated evidence of functional written communication skills. Text is of required length, with no major problems in written expression. Submission is complete	Evidence of developing written communication skills. Text is under length and /or submission is incomplete	Minimal evidence demonstrating written communication skills. Text is significantly under length and/or submission is significantly incomplete	Absence of evidence demonstrating written communication skills. Little or no work is submitted

PRESENTATION (Communication & Representation) - 20% Ability to present work in a clear and logical way. Appropriate and inventive use of visual / graphic techniques to distil and communicate ideas.	The presentation is exceptional: Presentation is well curated, cohesive, and complete. Documents distil ideas, are unambiguous and complete.	The presentation is advanced: Presentation is well curated, cohesive, and complete. Documents distil ideas and are unambiguous in presentation.	The presentation is proficient: Presentation is cohesive. Documents communicate and showcase ideas effectively.	The presentation is functional: Presentation is generally cohesive and complete. Documents communicate ideas well enough.	The presentation is minimal: Presentation is partly complete. Documents do not communicate particularly well.	The presentation is absent: Limited evidence of work. Presentation is incomplete and/or incoherent.	The presentation is absent: Little or no evidence of work. Presentation is substantially incomplete and incoherent.
